

Onemda Yarning

Presentation on the University's of Melbourne Indigenous Strategy 2023-2027; Murmuk Djerring by Margot Eden, Kirsten Clark and Karen Davis

Murmuk Djerring, the University of Melbourne's Indigenous Strategy 2023–2027, sets a proactive, innovative and ambitious approach to strengthen the University's work for and with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. Meaning 'Working Together' in Woi Wurrung language, Murmuk Djerring reinforces and extends the University of Melbourne's commitment to Indigenous excellence in higher education and research, self-determination and improved social, economic, and cultural outcomes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. Join Margot Eden (Director, Indigenous Strategy), Kirsten Clark (Associate Director, Indigenous Strategy) and Karen Davis (Manager, Cultural Protocols and Project) for a brief introduction to the strategy followed by a Q+A and discussion. Afternoon tea will be provided.

Tuesday, 16 April 2024

2:00pm to 3:00pm

Room 516, 207 Bouverie Street, Carlton

Zoom ID: 86941532886 + password: 026059

Murmuk Djerring – Working Together is an artwork by Samantha Richards, a proud Indigenous woman from the Wurundjeri and Dja Dja Wurrung Tribes. Onemda Artwork Logo(c) Reanna Bono

RSVP is required please email onemda-info@unimelb.edu.au